

Fundamentals of Banking Law & FinTech

Tuesday - Thursday
October 10 - 12, 2017
Charles Schwab
211 Main Street
San Francisco, CA 91405

Instructors:

- John A. Buchman
- Paul Clark
- Hugh Conroy
- Sara A. Kelsey
- Prasad Krishnamurthy
- Edward J. McAniff
- Jeremy R. Newell
- Camille Orme
- Karol K. Sparks

The Berkeley Center for Law, Business and the Economy is pleased to continue its sponsorship of Fundamentals of Banking Law and FinTech. This intensive three-day executive education program is designed to familiarize participants with the basics of banking law, including the key policies, concepts and regulations surrounding the financial markets, Dodd-Frank, and the rise of FinTech.

Structured as a law course rather than a seminar or conference, the program will be taught by experienced practitioners from leading institutions, including: Berkeley Law, Boston University, Charles Schwab, The Clearing House, Cleary Gottlieb, and New York University.

Up to 19 hours of MCLE credit will be offered, including at least one hour of ethics. Early registration will end August 30, 2017. For more information about the event, please visit our website.

NEW FOR 2017 – Half-Day Option (October 12) on FinTech Legal for Entrepreneurs, Executives and Investors. Complimentary enrollment for program participants. Visit this website to learn more.

BerkeleyLaw
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Berkeley Center for Law,
Business and the Economy

www.law.berkeley.edu | 510-642-0532 | BCLBE@law.berkeley.edu